

INTERIOR NOTES: BENETEAU 46

Life aboard the two-cabin version revolves around the spacious, open main saloon (top). The galley (above), nav station, and dinette all flow together to present a tremendous feeling of spaciousness. Cabin windows and oversized hatches allow plenty of light and ventilation. While the clean white interior and satin-varnished woods allow the impression of elegance, unfinished panel edges and thin laminates make it obvious that this is a boat built to meet a brisk production schedule. The galley sink placement seems an afterthought, but it works.
